THE PENTAGON WINDS

The Pentagon Winds woodwind quintet was originally formed in 1989 as part of the Field Band's College Clinic Team. This ensemble, reestablished as the Pentagon Winds in 1999, performs in colleges and universities throughout the nation. In addition to recital performances, its members present master classes on their individual instruments and offer coaching in ensemble playing techniques. The quintet was featured in a Millennium Stage recital at the Kennedy Center in 2001 and performed at the 2003 International Double Reed Society Conference. As part of the Field Band's continuing educational outreach program, the Pentagon Winds presented chamber music clinics at professional music conferences across the nation in 2002 and 2003.

Sergeant First Class Natalie Boyd Klima, flute, is from Seminole, Florida. She earned a Bachelor of Science in Music Education from the University of South Florida and a Master of Music in Flute Performance from the University of North Texas. While in Texas, she was piccoloist in the Fort Worth Pops, and Garland, Irving, and University of North Texas symphony orchestras. A third-prize winner and two-time finalist of the National Flute Association's Piccolo Artist Competition, she is also a first-prize winner of the Florida Flute Association's Young Artist Competition. SFC Klima joined the Field Band in 2001 and currently plays piccolo in the Concert Band as well as serving as flute section leader. Her teachers include Kim McCormick and Terri Sundberg.

Sergeant First Class Jennifer Bishop, oboe, is from Royal Oak, Michigan. She received a Bachelor of Music in Oboe Performance from the University of Michigan and a Master of Music in Oboe Performance from Virginia Commonwealth University. As a graduate student, SFC Bishop was a member of the Carpenter Woodwind Quintet, a two-year program funded by the Carpenter Foundation in order to promote awareness of classical music in schools throughout Virginia. In addition to its recital performances, the quintet was chosen as a semi-finalist in the 1998 Fischhoff Chamber Music Competition. SFC Bishop has performed with the Annapolis Symphony Orchestra, New Sousa Band, Fairfax Symphony Orchestra, Baltimore Chamber Orchestra, Baltimore Opera Orchestra and Richmond Symphony Orchestra. Her teachers include Kristy Meretta, Harry Sargous, Kristen Beene, and Philip Teachey.

Sergeant First Class Matthew Kanowith, clarinet, earned a Bachelor of Music Education from Indiana University. Soon after he was appointed second clarinet of the Florida West Coast Symphony, and performed with the Florida Orchestra, Tampa Bay Opera, and the Venice Symphony. SFC Kanowith received a Master of Music in Clarinet Performance from the Peabody Conservatory of Johns Hopkins University. He has performed at the Sarasota Music Festival, Bowdoin Summer Music Festival, and the Chautauqua Music Festival. SFC Kanowith joined the Field Band in 2000 and has been a regularly featured soloist with the Concert Band. His teachers include Anthony Gigliotti, Eli Eban, and Yehuda Gilad.

Master Sergeant J. Daniel Bowlds, bassoon, a native of Lexington, Kentucky, earned his Bachelor of Arts in Bassoon Performance from Missouri Western State College. While there, he was the principal bassoonist for the Missouri All-Collegiate Band and the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia National Assembly. MSG Bowlds received a graduate assistantship at Kent State University where he earned a Master of Music in Bassoon Performance and won the university's concerto competition. His graduate woodwind quintet, Aeolus V, was a 1997 finalist in the Coleman Chamber Ensemble Competition. MSG Bowlds' instructors include Richard Yeager, David Debolt, and Linda Harwell. He currently serves as saxophone and bassoon section leader.

Master Sergeant Alan White, horn, earned a Bachelor of Music in Education from the Peabody Conservatory and a Master of Music in Horn Performance from the University of Cincinnati's College-Conservatory of Music. After touring with the American Wind Symphony, he spent a year performing with La Orquesta Sinfonica del Estado de México in Toluca, Mexico. In 1994, MSG White performed with the Cape Philharmonic Orchestra in Cape Town, South Africa. Since joining the Field Band in 1989, he has performed frequently on the Field Band's Chamber Music Series, been featured in the educational video Horn Playing: Past and Present, and served as a horn clinician. MSG White's teachers include Robert Pierce, Peter Landgren, and Michael Hatfield.
